Objective of the Course

The main objective of this course is to provide you with practical experience of print media. You will have to perform some activities related to print media by practically applying what you have learned in the theoretical courses.

Learners are required to do the following things

1. Go through the study material of all the theory courses properly as in this practical course you have to apply your knowledge learnt from these theory courses.
2. There will be no face to face classes for this practical course so there is no issue of attendance. However, students are advised to attend various sessions focused on this practical course organized on different technological platforms such as Gyan Darshan (TV), Gyan Vani (Radio), Gyanadhara (Internet Radio) and other online platforms (Google Classroom, Facebook, etc). Please join the official Facebook page of School of Journalism & New Media Studies for latest updates and academic support.
3. You have to prepare a Production Portfolio and submit it to your study centre. The details of the Production Portfolio are given in the coming pages.
